Creating a family emergency plan will help you feel safe if a weather disaster or natural disaster hits.

Natural disasters and severe weather are becoming more common. Make a plan for evacuation, communication with family and services, and for protecting important documents and property.

- Be informed. Visit your state and local government's emergency management websites.
- Sign up to receive emergency alerts.
- Share contact information with family members, schools, childcare, and workplaces.
- Put together a disaster supplies kit. Learn more at ready.gov/kit.
